PREAMBLE

Democracy is conventionally defined as “government of the people, by the people”. It is however debatable if Nigeria has had any appreciable form of democracy since independence from Britain in 1960. Our first attempt at democracy and self governance was characterized by political crises and violence, accusations and counter-accusations of vote rigging and general corruption. This unfortunately gave reason for the military to stage its first coup in January 1966, paving way for a long period of military rule.

Nigerians (even our leaders themselves) agree that the greatest problem confronting governance in the land is leadership. Nigeria deserves leadership and government that will listen to the people and do the will of the majority of the people. Our country needs the kind of leadership that can guarantee the masses security in all departments of human existence, be it life of property.

Our Party Hope Democratic Party (HOP) will govern Nigerian on the basis of the popular definition of “government of the people, by the people”. The HOP promises to run a people-centered government that will place premium of the social security and needs of the people. The (HDP) believes that political leaders should see themselves as servants who must do the bidding of the people and not the other way round.

As the name of our party connotes, the Hope Democratic Party is a political party where progressive minded people, determined to change the unprogressive course of goverio000 in Nigeria, have decided to pitch their tent for the sole purpose of giving moaning to the lives of the suffering masses of this country. And this constitution is node to guide us achieve this objective and more.
